

Travelling Gooners - Fulham pub for away fans

09/09/04

Story by Ray

Following a great start to the season on the pitch, the REDaction group would like to continue the high spirits of the fans travelling to Fulham on Saturday.

Designated meeting place for travelling Gooners is 'The Duke's Head' pub on Lower Richmond Road, overlooking the river, so come along for a few cold drinks, and an unofficial North Bank Knees Up.

Direction to the pub can be found here.

And general information here.

We arranged a similar meeting for the Community Shield game in Cardiff, and we had a great turn out, helping to create a superb pre-game atmosphere. Come along to enjoy the build up and chat to a few friendly faces, and try out a few new songs. Here's a fresh one to the tune of "Johnny Goes Marching Home":

HE LEFT THE SCUM AT WHITE HART LANE HURRAH!! HURRAH!!
HE COME TO PLAY FOR ARSENAL HURRAH!! HURRAH!!
WE NICKED THEIR CAPTAIN ON A FREE
AND AT THE LANE HE WON THE LEAGUE
AND WE'RE ALL GOING TO EUROPE WHILE TOTTENHAM STAY AT HOME
